The government crop reports just issued show the smallest yield of corn since 1894. The wheat crop, however, is the largest in the history of the country, with the exception of that of 1898.

Georgia wound up the week by burning a negro at the stake. Two of these affairs in one week show the progress that is being made in civilization. In both cases the dispatches reported that the mobs which did the burning were "orderly assemblages," and performed their work with all the "decorum possible."

Admiral Bob Evans has been reprimanded by the Navy Department for "impugning the motives" of former Secretary of the Navy Wm. E. Chandler, and for "otherwise traducing him" in a manner subversive of the discipline of the Navy Department. The habit of going about with a chip on the shoulder seems to have become contagious in naval circles.

One very important measure which will be urged upon Congress at its coming session of next December is legislation extending the charters of a large number of national banks. Out of the 4,064 banks operating under the National Banking law, according to Comptroller Dawes, there are 1738 national banks whose charters will expire on various dates after July 12, 1902, and whose corporate existence cannot be extended without further action by Congress.

Senator George G. Vest of Missouri predicts that the leading plank of the Democratic platform in 1904 will be:

"First, a declaration for a graduated income tax."

"Second, an unrelenting opposition to trusts."

"Third, a declaration against imperialism and the colonial system."

The majority of the Democratic party is in favor of postponing platform building until the right time comes.

Some workmen got into a discussion about union labor at Ashtabula Saturday night and one of them was shot, not fatally, by a companion. An Ashtabula dispatch announces that the man who did the shooting "was hurried to the county jail at Jefferson, as there was talk of lynching at the harbor. Before the officers arrived it is said that a rope had been procured by some of the bystanders." The Western Reserve will have to walk straight before it does much effective criticism of the Southern mob demonstrations.

SENATOR CHANDLER'S REWARD.

(From the New York Times)

Away back in 1896 Senator William E. Chandler offered to pay $100 to the person who placed in the Republican platform of that year, after the references to international bimetalism, the words, "which we pledge ourselves to promote." Since then claims for the money have been made on behalf of many individuals, including Delegate F. H. Streeter, of Concord N. H.; United States Senator Hansbrough, and Representative

D. K. Watson of Ohio. Recently Senator Foraker found the final draft of the platform, and discovered that the words in question had been pencilled between the typewritten lines, and that they are in the handwriting of Senator Lodge. So Senator Chandler has just sent to Senator Lodge a check for the sum promised, accompanied by a letter, in which he says, among other things:

"All wise men know that McKinley and Hobart would not have been elected if the platform had not, while declaring opposition to the free coinage of silver, except as the result of an international agreement, also declared that the Republican party favored such an international agreement, if it could be secured. If McKinley and Hobart had not been elected in 1896, Mr. McKinley would not have been re-elected in 1900. Therefore those six words were of priceless value, and I trust that when all the facts are known my humble offering of $100 will be supplemented by such generous donations not only from many members of the Republican party, but as well from Democrats who have so much trembled at every prospect of the election of Mr. Bryan, as to adequately recognize the sagacity and courage which led you not merely to conceive but to actually insert into the platform of 1896 concerning bimetalism the words, 'which we pledge ourselves to promote.' That immortal declaration twice made Mr. McKinley President, and the fidelity with which the pledge has been fulfilled the world knows."

This is decidedly interesting, and it ought to start a fine hot season controversy.

WISE and Otherwise.

A few more of the same, please?

Don't forget the Council meeting tonight.

Camp meetings have not yet affected Akron.

Even Mayor Rockwell was on hand to root for the Kent team.

The official statistician on dog days ought to be saying something.

A few words concerning the pumpkin crop would be appreciated.

It is now up to Kent to explain the defeat and ask for another chance.

The trouble is that prospective builders of hotels for Akron are all talking at once.

The South Ends understand after Saturday's game that 13 is a very unlucky number.

Only eight more days till the glorious twentieth, when the city funds will be filled by the August apportionments.

City Commissioner McMillen's next demand will be that dog catchers wear full dress suits while in the performance of duty.

It must be admitted, though, from a standpoint of fairness, that the world still moves on just as it did when Akron had a dog catcher.

It is still a popular diversion in Southern circles to yank a negro from his earthly holdings and send him to claim his celestial real estate.

The introduction of sauerkraut into the bill of fare of the soldiers is said to have been a play by the administration to keep the German Democratic vote in a condition of mellow content.

The August Bookman indulges in a number of "Queries About Authors," of which the following will serve as samples:

Why was Rider Haggard?

Because he let Rose Terry Cooke.

Why is Sarah Grand?

To make Andrew Marvel.

How long will Samuel Lover?

Until Justin Winsor.

When did Mary Mape Dodge?

When George W. Cutter.

Why did Lewis Carroll?

To put a stop to Francis Quarles.

Why is George Canning?

To teach Julia Ward Howe.

What allied Harriet Beecher Stowe?

Bunyan.

The gentle art of dynamiting fish is on a par with the hunting of rabbits with a fish horn and a rubber hose for fairness.

The latter method goes something like this:

The hunters run a rabbit to earth. Then, if the burrow has two outlets, a man is stationed at one of them and a fish horn, to which is attached a rubber hose, is introduced into the other hole. When all is in position the application of a pair of lungs to the hose causes the horn to create a noise in the rabbit's underground refuge unapproached by anything less than that occasioned by an umpire's close decision against a home team. The unfortunate rabbit, hearing the dreadful noise, leaves at once for other climes and the man at the other hole promptly catches him as he emerges.

Farmers are in crying need of men to help them in their farm work and the city contains more men every day who are out of employment in the shops. The summer dull season in the city comes at about the same time the farmer has the greatest need for men to help in harvest work each summer.

Numbers of Akron men who were unable to find work for themselves in the shop during the dull season of the summer have taken advantage of this state of affairs and gone to the country in search of work. Farmers have found the help thus secured rather inferior in point of experience, but by patience such difficulties have usually been satisfactorily adjusted. Most of the crops are harvested now, and the drift will soon be cityward again. By that time most of the Akron shops will have recovered from the slump they experience each year and many difficulties that otherwise might prove serious to the workmen are thus avoided.

"Independence and ability to go ahead and do things is a beautiful characteristic in a young man," said the Graciously Information Distributor, reminiscently, "but the thing may be carried too far. A certain ambitious East Akron youngster is proof of what I say, and he will probably be a little slow about striking out into untrodden fields of endeavor after this. He didn't tell me the story, but his best girl told her best girl friend under pledge of dumb secrecy, and the best girl friend told to me. It was this way. The young man had torn his trousers, and his mother had been, to his mind, a little slow about mending them. To help her out and at the same time demonstrate his versatility, the young man found what he thought was a pair of cast off trousers, one night, and as the goods matched with that of the torn trousers, he skillfully cut a cross section off one leg, and grafted the section on the torn. In the morning his father rose before it was yet day, and seeking out the trousers which had been mutilated, would put them on, for they were the garments in which he did his daily work.

"Imagine his surprise to find that one of the legs had shrunk about six inches during the night. A close examination revealed the cause, and the culprit, on being confronted with evidence of his guilt, confessed.

"Before the father departed for work he dictated a few short, crisp axioms for the benefit of the 'natural leader' and aggressive youth who had destroyed his nether garments. The mother can do his mending now, when she gets time."

ROYALTY

Wanted by Wadsworth Inventor

—Patent Injector.

For some time past E. J. Young, who is the expert man of the Ohio Injector Co., has been at work on a locomotive injector, and has gone so far as to organize a new company to manufacture this new machine, says the Wadsworth Banner.

Heretofore he has turned over to the Ohio company all his patents along this line, and has received very little remuneration for his hard work in experimenting and bringing out his inventions, and will hereafter demand of The Ohio company a royalty on his patents and improvements.

Messrs. Ettinger & Furry of Chicago, who are the sales agents for the Ohio locomotive machine, have contracted for the entire output of the new company.

INSTITUTE

Humphrey, of Ironton. They will be assisted by Supt. Hotchkiss, Prof. Lee R. Knight and Miss Elizabeth Perry. Prof. N. L. Glover will have charge of the institute. The institute is a dread for "that terrible second summer" when they have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in the house. Nature's specific for summer complaints of every sort.

CUT IN TWO.

Brakeman Falls Under an Engine.Had Attempted to Step on Pilot
While Engine Was Moving.

John King, aged 24, a brakeman on the Northern Ohio railroad, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, near Broadway.

He was helping to shift some cars in the yards, and a crew had started from one string of cars to another to make couplings. King was standing in the center of the track, and as the engine approached, he attempted to step on the pilot, when his foot slipped and he was thrown under the engine. His body was cut in two, above the hips.

The body was removed to Park's morgue, and the young man's brother, at New London, notified. He requested that the remains be sent at once to New London, and the body was sent Saturday night. King was unmarried. While in Akron he boarded at the Pacific restaurant.

In Camp at Lake Brady.

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by all druggists, E. Steinbacher & Co., wholesale agents.

I AM HAPPY

I was dreading having my teeth attended to. I had to have some out nerves devitalized in others; also some bridge work. My teeth were taken out; never felt a twinge of pain. They told me it was next to killing to have the nerve removed. The nerve was removed without my knowing it. The gold crowns were 22k., of standard gauge, and articulation was perfect.
